COBIT 5 is a framework for IT governance and management. It provides a common language for IT management and a structured approach to IT management. The framework is based on seven domains: Principles, Policies and Frameworks; Processes; Organisational Structures; Culture, Ethics and Behaviour; Information; Services, Infrastructure and Applications; and People, Skills and Competencies. These domains are supported by Resources. The framework is designed to help organizations improve their IT management and achieve their business goals. It is a comprehensive framework that covers all aspects of IT management, from strategy and governance to operations and performance. The framework is based on best practices and is designed to be flexible and adaptable to different organizations and industries. It provides a clear and concise way to describe and measure IT management performance. The framework is also designed to be easy to understand and use. It is a valuable tool for IT management and a key component of any IT governance program.
